

SACQSP 2010
QUANTITY SURVEYING CONFERENCE
2010

Conditions of Publication

(“the Conference”)

COPYRIGHT POLICY STATEMENT

1. The copyright of articles published in the proceedings of the Conference is assigned to the SACQSP. It has been found to be beneficial for publishers to hold copyright of articles as a protection against infringement, libel or plagiarism, and it also enables SACQSP to deal with further requests for the work in an efficient and timely manner. SACQSP will, however, honour your moral right to be credited with authorship.
2. All proprietary and patent rights associated with the contents of your article are unaffected by the assignment of copyright, and remain with either the author(s) or their employing institution. Furthermore, permission to adapt, rewrite, include in further publications, present orally etc. The material contained in the article will only be withheld in exceptional circumstances, and will normally be granted on the sole condition that the Conference is acknowledged as the original place of publication.
3. If SACQSP receives any requests from third parties wishing to reproduce your article, your approval will be sought prior to any agreement. However, your approval will be presumed if we do not hear from you within four weeks. Authors should note that it is their responsibility to update their corresponding address for this purpose.
4. Authors must confirm that their work is original and unpublished. Permission must be obtained from the publisher for use of any excerpts from other copyright works, which must be fully acknowledged. Furthermore, authors must indemnify SACQSP in respect of claims made against it by third parties for copyright infringement relating to publication of the article, or concerning authorship or rights of publication over the article.
